I. Indexing and crawlability

a. Resources with 4xx status code CORRECT

- i. Your website is free from 4xx errors.

About this SEO factor: 4xx errors often point to a problem on a website. For example, if you have broken link on a page, and visitors click it, they may see a 4xx error. It's important to regularly monitor these errors and investigate their causes, because they may have negative impact and lower site authority in users' eyes.

b. Resources with 5xx status code CORRECT

- i. Your website is free from 5xx errors.

About this SEO factor: 5xx error messages are sent when the server is aware that it has a problem or error. It's important to regularly monitor these errors and investigate their causes, because they may have negative impact and lower site authority in search engines' eyes.

c. Resources restricted from indexing INFO

- i. Some of your site's resources are restricted from indexing. It is recommended to re-check the robots.txt, and make sure that all your useful content gets indexed and is not forbidden by mistake.

Disallowed (Robots.txt)

d. 404 page set up correctly CORRECT

- i. Your site's 404 error page is set up correctly. A customized informative 404 error page can help you keep users on your website. But most importantly, a 404 error page should return 404 response code.

e. Robots.txt file CORRECT

- i. A robots.txt file is available on your website

II. Redirects

a. Fixed www and non-www versions CORRECT

- i. www and non-www versions on your website are already fixed. Usually, websites are available with and without "www" in the domain name. This issue is quite common, and people link to both www and non-www versions.

b. Issues with HTTP/HTTPS site versions - NO CORRECT

- i. There are no issues with HTTP/HTTPS versions of your website. Using secure encryption is highly recommended for websites.

c. Pages with 302 redirect - 0 CORRECT

- i. No 302 redirects were found on your website. 302 redirects are temporary so they don't pass any link juice. If you use them instead of 301s, search engines might continue to index the old URL, and disregard the new one as a duplicate, or they might divide the link popularity between the two versions, thus hurting search rankings.

d. Pages with 301 redirect CORRECT

- i. No 301 redirects have been found on your website.

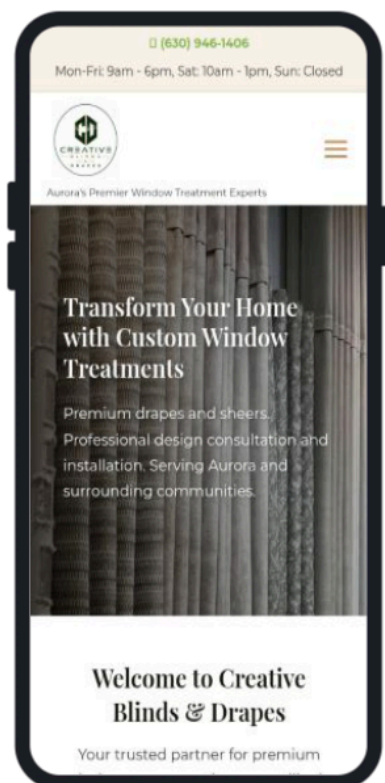

e. Pages with long redirects chains CORRECT

- i. There have been found no pages with long redirect chains (longer than 2 redirects) on your website. In certain cases, either due to bad .htaccess file setup or due to some deliberately taken measures, a page may end up with having two or more redirects. It is strongly recommended to avoid such redirect chains longer than 2 redirects since they may be the reason of multiple issues.

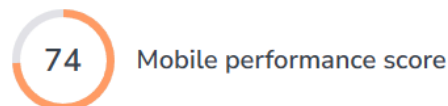

III. Encoding and technical factors

a. Mobile friendly - OK

Your page needs improvements

Other mobile-friendly test criteria:

✓ Tap targets are properly sized and well-spaced	▼
✓ Text on the page is easy to read	▼
⚠ Content is wider than the screen/Content extends beyond the screen	⬆
Description Checks if some page elements are wider than the device's screen, making the content difficult to view and interact with.	Recommendation If the check is not passed, ensure all width attributes are relative ($\leq 100\%$) or their pixel width doesn't exceed the screen width.
✓ Viewport is set correctly	▼

b. HTTPS pages with mixed content issues CORRECT

- i. None of your HTTPS pages have mixed content issues. If an HTTPS page includes content retrieved through regular, cleartext HTTP, this weakens the security of the entire page as the unencrypted content is accessible to sniffers and can be modified.

c. Pages with multiple canonical URLs CORRECT

- i. There are no pages with multiple canonical URLs specified. In cases a number of URLs are set in `rel="canonical"` instructions, Google will likely ignore all the `rel="canonical"` hints, so your efforts to avoid duplicate content issues may go useless.

d. Pages with Frames CORRECT

- i. Your website pages are absolutely free from Frames. Frames are a serious obstacle to Google and other search engines when they try to index your site. Therefore it is very good you're not using them.

e. Too big pages CORRECT

IV. URLs

a. Dynamic URLs CORRECT

- i. No dynamic URLs were found on your website. It means that all your website URLs are easy to read for users and search engines.

b. Too long URLs CORRECT

- i. The length of all URLs on your website is within the prescribed limits (up to 115 characters)

V. Linksa. Broken links CORRECT

- i. There are no broken outgoing links on your website.

b. Pages with excessive number of links ERROR

- i. According to Matt Cutts (head of Google's Webspam team), "...there's still a good reason to recommend keeping to under a hundred links or so: the user experience. If you're showing well over 100 links per page, you could be overwhelming your users and giving them a bad experience. A page might look good to you until you put on your "user hat" and see what it looks like to a new visitor."
- ii. Although Google keeps talking about users experience, what they can really hurt if they see way too many links on a page is its rankings. So the rule is simple: the fewer links on a page, the fewer problems with its rankings.

c. Dofollow external links

- i. There are dofollow links to other sites on the website. You can review the links' URLs in the above table.
